

We are Resurrection People!

As April springs upon us, we look forward to the celebration of Easter. I know I love the songs, the music and even the lilies (although they give me an allergy headache 😊).

The trumpets sounding, the church resounding “Jesus Christ is Risen Today!” Oh, what a morning! I even enjoy the secular parts of Easter – my grandson chasing after the Easter bunny at the family party, coloring eggs and eating them, too.

There is also a sense that when Easter morning dawns, whether in March or April, spring has arrived. Officially spring started over a week ago, yet it doesn't feel like spring until we celebrate Easter.

While I enjoy all that Easter brings to mind, I'm always curious about Luther's saying that we celebrate Easter (the resurrection) every Sunday. Every Sunday is a festival day to celebrate. So why do all the Sundays between one Easter and the next seem like just another ordinary day? We come to worship, we sing God's praises, we share in the holy meal, yet it doesn't feel the same as Easter morning.

Complacency? Too many “resurrection” mornings? Oh, how I wish we could hold on to the mountain top experience of Easter morning. Would robes and processions every week help us hold onto the experience? Probably not. Even that would become “normal.”

The truth is, Jesus tells us to come down from our mountain top experiences and live in the “normal” days between the big celebrations. That is where most of life happens – most of our ministry – most of our opportunities to share God's amazing grace and love. More “life” happens between mountain top experiences. The ups and downs of family, jobs, illness, tragedy, AND joy, new birth, recovery, birthdays, weddings, retirements, and so much more.

The celebration of Easter is, yes, about all the festivities and joyous music and worship. It is also about lifting us up once again to the mountain top so we can hold onto that energy, love and remembrance of all that God has done in and through Jesus for us. We take that energy out into the everyday world to speak the truth with more freedom, more commitment and more of a sense of who we are because of Easter—because we have gone to the mountain top and brought down with us love beyond our wildest dreams.

Celebrate this Easter season with all that you have and all that you are – and then bring that momentum to the plains of our everyday life and ministry.

ENOUGH

EXTRAVAGANZA 2023

First, I'd like to thank the admin of the Extravaganza for granting me a scholarship. And second, the St. Mark's congregation for supporting me as I continue learning and growing as a ministry leader.

The Extravaganza was an opportunity to remind ourselves that we are enough. Amid crisis, pandemics, or any other obstacle in youth ministry (and in any ministry or place of serving), we often question God and ask, "why me?" Little do we realize that questions like these have enough power to delay and often stop us from doing the work that we are called to do. Not only that, but it also delays the help that people desperately need. Whether it be a Bible study, youth group, or a food pantry, this mindset can stop all of that. The focus of the Extravaganza was to undo that mindset through a series of courses that focused on navigating and supporting youth after a pandemic and how to avoid burnout. Additional courses focused on much deeper issues: breaking down racial barriers that continue to exist in the ELCA, reclaiming and redefining evangelism, and what it means to navigate through a predominantly white and cisgender denomination as a person of color and/or as someone who identifies as LGBTQ+.

In conclusion, we are all called to serve in some capacity in our churches and communities. We are called because there is a need for someone like you or me. A need for your ideas, your faithfulness, and your capacity to love others well. For myself, youth ministry is difficult and there are times where I have questioned if I'm the person that the youth need. I have asked God, "why me?" And the answer lies in knowing and believing that I am enough. And not only that, but that there will be enough support, community, resources, and enough love for every single youth who walks through the doors at St. Mark's. And with that, I'd like to thank you all for your continued support of the youth ministries as well. I wouldn't be able to do what I do without the leaders and community who have helped form me.

Thank you,
Sharon Hermsillo Magaña

St. Mark's Lutheran Church is connected to the larger church and the world through our Sierra Pacific Synod (a geographic area of churches working together) and as a part of the denomination known as the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA). Together we can do what no one group can do alone.

Opportunities for Social Justice Activities

Building a Healthy, Equitable and Regenerative Food System via the Farm Bill

I attended the Sierra Pacific Synod's Hunger Network's workshop regarding the 2023 Farm Bill in early March. Bread for the World held 29 regional Farm Bill listening sessions with 730 grassroots advocates and more than 100 additional meetings with stakeholders, including Black, Hispanic, and Indigenous farmers and food system leaders, Historically Black College and Universities, U.S. Department of Agriculture officials, and local food system leaders (including recipients of U.S. Department of Agriculture grants), to learn what they are planning to advocate for in the 2023 farm bill and to build and strengthen relationships. Bread staff also met with Congressional offices in leadership positions on Senate and House Agriculture committees and subcommittees to introduce Bread's farm bill policy team to them and gain insight on what Senate and House members can be expected to prioritize in the farm bill. These meetings and consultations have informed and built ownership for the specific list of farm bill policies below. Pamela Lyons and I represented St. Mark's at a meeting with U.S. Representative John

Garamendi and five of four of his staff members to further our learning regarding the Farm Bill and what it offers to those of us who live in the United States and around the world via food aid. Here's the link to Bread for the World's information on the topic: Bread-for-the-Worlds-Farm-Bill-Policy-Platform-2023.pdf. In next month's newsletter, look for ways to that the congregation will be reaching out to strengthen the local food system (and beyond) through the 2023 Farm Bill. ---Diane Metz
